

Coronavirus Response Solution to Keep Manufacturing Running

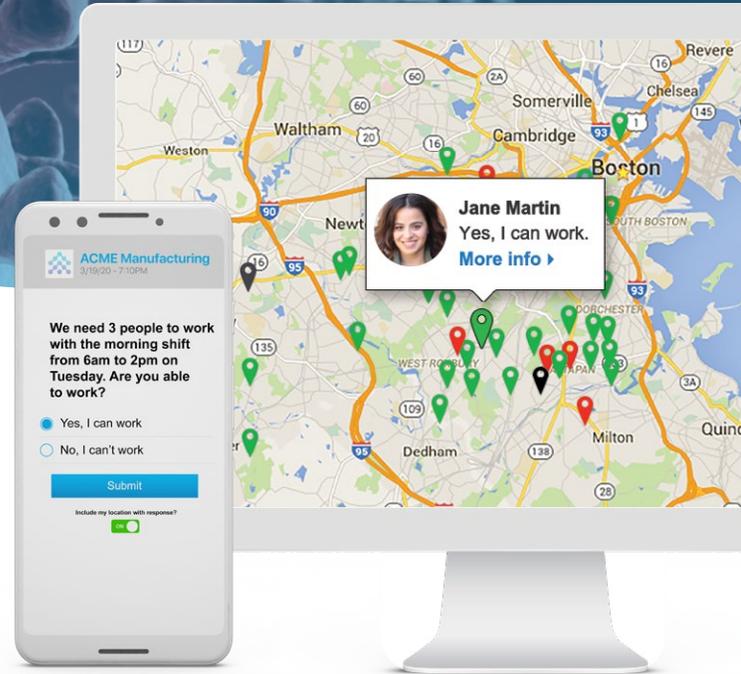

Keep your operations team connected throughout the COVID-19 disruption

As your company prepares for what could potentially be a lengthy disruption in day-to-day operations, with impact to the supply chain and a reduced workforce, it is increasingly important to make sure the lines of communication between leadership and employees are open, clear, and effective. The Rave Alert™ incident notification system, and integrated Rave Guardian™ application provide a reliable, easy-to-use, efficient solution that helps keep employees safe and informed.

Broad Communications. Customize and share content with your employees in just three clicks to provide the information needed and latest developments of the coronavirus pandemic through email, voice calls, social media or text. Share proper updates on the status of your organization and where you stand within your emergency preparedness plan.

Quarantine Check-Ins and Health Conditions

Ensure the safety and security of employees with automated messages to those who may be in quarantine and check on their health status. Provide them with the proper guidelines to confirm their compliance and real-time updates on the changing risk of the coronavirus.

Business Continuity. Easily manage and virtually check in with employees to cover shifts with available and healthy employees to keep your operations running. Solicit feedback on who may be in quarantine, who may be experiencing symptoms, and who may be symptom-free, then send targeted follow-up messages based on individual responses. Collaborate with and instantly connect your workforce to bring key personnel together to discuss next steps and finalize action plans.

Cost-Effective and Deployed in Three Days.

Staffing your facilities with healthy and certified operations staff to work extra shifts may become more difficult. Rave stands ready to assist you and your communication needs. Working closely with you, your solution will be deployed quickly and efficiently so you can focus on the myriad of other tasks you have to consider.

Rave Guardian™ Application Features

Chat – inbound text communication to share HR-, travel- or facility-related information and answer employee questions.

Call Directory – create and easily manage a directory of critical numbers, such as Benefits, Travel, or a coronavirus hotline, to provide employees with the contact details of those that can help.

Customizable Content – share timely, appropriate and accurate information immediately so employees do not have to search for what they need.
